

The People

Across

6. Material used to fill and seal the seams of boats and houses.
7. A residence, home, and property in the northern bushland.
8. A protective covering for a knife.
10. An assembled system of roots, flexible branches, sinew, hide, rope or wire that has been fashioned and set to catch mammals
14. A temporary residence used by a trapper, located on a trapline
15. A sharp-edged flesh and hair scraper made from the leg bone
17. Food, or an object that gives off the appearance, sound, or scent of food used to lure an animal, bird, or fish into a trap.
18. Animal hide with fur attached.
19. A small and very light watercraft used in shallow water for hunting in muskrat habitat.

Down

1. A toboggan used to carry people and supplies.
2. An overland route across which boats, canoes, and provisions are carried.
3. A cone-shaped megaphone made of birchbark, used by a hunter to imitate moose communication
4. A container carried on a person's back and used to carry supplies.
5. An instrument used to feed a rope from a hole in the ice to another hole in the ice.
8. A protective covering for a rifle.
9. The process of converting rawhide into a soft leather fabric.
11. A refrigerator or walk-in cooler designated for use by the entire community.
12. A place for the storage of food and supplies, often located at strategic locations along the trapline and hunting route.
13. Preparing the carcass of a hunted animal
15. About ten kilograms worth of fish hung head-down on a willow branch which has been pierced through the tail of each fish
16. The main residence of a trapper family.